THE DEMOCRACY.

Cleveland's Triumph in New York—His Opportunity Owing to Repeal.

A Poll of the Delegations Shows the Great Strength of the New York Men.

The Railroad Committee-Selecting Sessions of the Committee on Resolutions, Etc.

THE SITUATION.

If the Democratic party were simply going to nominate a candidate for President, the fight would be over. Governor Cleveland has a majority of the delegates in his pocket, and the two-thirds rule would not be applied to him. There was a time when the Tammany delegation could have defeated him, but that time has passed. Tammany has been beaten in its own city, and the Governor has a majority of the delegates from New York. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the State Convention, and the Governor has a majority of the delegates from the State. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Resolutions, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Permanent Organization, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Rules, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Credentials, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Railroads, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Platform, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Order of Business, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Contested Seats, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Ways and Means, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Finance, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Foreign Affairs, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. Besides, Tammany has been beaten in the Democratic Committee on Public Lands, and the Governor has a majority of the members of that committee. THE TARIFF.

The Conflict Ended—Two Chances in Favor of the Conservatives.

Summary of the Planks Prepared by Senator Hoar and Abram S. Hewitt.

What the Two Tariff Reformers Will Demand—Action of the State Delegations.

The tariff plank of the platform will not be presented to the Resolutions committee by William E. Barrett, of Connecticut, Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee.

"There will be an exposition of principles on the tariff in the platform," said Frank Hiscock, the ever-ready of conservatives, "but the less said 'right' now the better."

Upon statement of the recommendation of the opening article of the tariff question it appears that many delegations which in some way or other to the Committee on Resolutions, and which now, prior to the action of all the committees, is but partially accounted, there is in many of the delegations an understanding or expectation that there is to be some sort of a declaration on the tariff. The Pennsylvania delegation has not given out that the Republicans there will demand the restoration of the McKinley rates, but it is the belief of many of the delegates that the platform will declare for the restoration of the McKinley principle, which is the Republican doctrine of protection. The Pennsylvania delegation will be solid for the McKinley principle, and will support it in the Committee on Resolutions. This delegation will be supported in the Committee on Resolutions by the solid vote of the Western delegations, which will be instructed to support the McKinley principle. The Pennsylvania delegation will be supported in the Committee on Resolutions by the solid vote of the Western delegations, which will be instructed to support the McKinley principle. The Pennsylvania delegation will be supported in the Committee on Resolutions by the solid vote of the Western delegations, which will be instructed to support the McKinley principle.

The Committee on Resolutions will be composed of [illegible] members, and it is believed that the McKinley principle will be supported by a majority of the committee. The Pennsylvania delegation will be supported in the Committee on Resolutions by the solid vote of the Western delegations, which will be instructed to support the McKinley principle. Final Action of Both Houses on Pending Appropriation Bills.

The Tolego Canal Is Temporarily Lost—A Few Constitutes Is Confirmed.

CLOSING SCENES.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 7.—[Special.]—The final adjournment of the first session of the Forty-eighth Congress occurred at 2 o'clock this afternoon, preceded by the usual farewells that mark the closing of the National Legislature. When the two houses assembled at 11 o'clock this morning, the joint resolution of last Saturday, providing for the adjournment of this session of Congress to-day, was passed by the House, and the Senate was notified of the fact. Following this a message was received from the President announcing that he had approved the bill making appropriations for the naval service for the year ending June 30, 1885, and also the bill making appropriations for the service of the Post-Office Department during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1885. The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the bill making appropriations for the service of the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1885, and passed the bill with amendments. It was immediately sent to the House, but the latter body refused to concur in the Senate amendments, and asked for a conference. The Senate then receded from its amendments, and the bill was passed. Following this a message was received from the House announcing that it had passed the bill making appropriations for the service of the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1885, with amendments, in which it asked the concurrence of the Senate. The Senate refused to concur in the House amendments, and asked for a conference. It was conceded that the chances for the passage of the bill before the adjournment were very slight, and that the only hope of the friends of the measure was to secure the passage of a joint resolution continuing the present appropriations for the Department of Agriculture for a few days longer. Mr. Allison, of Iowa, said he would not object to the passage of such a resolution, but he thought it would be useless, as the House would not agree to it. Mr. Hoar, of Massachusetts, said that he would not object to the passage of the

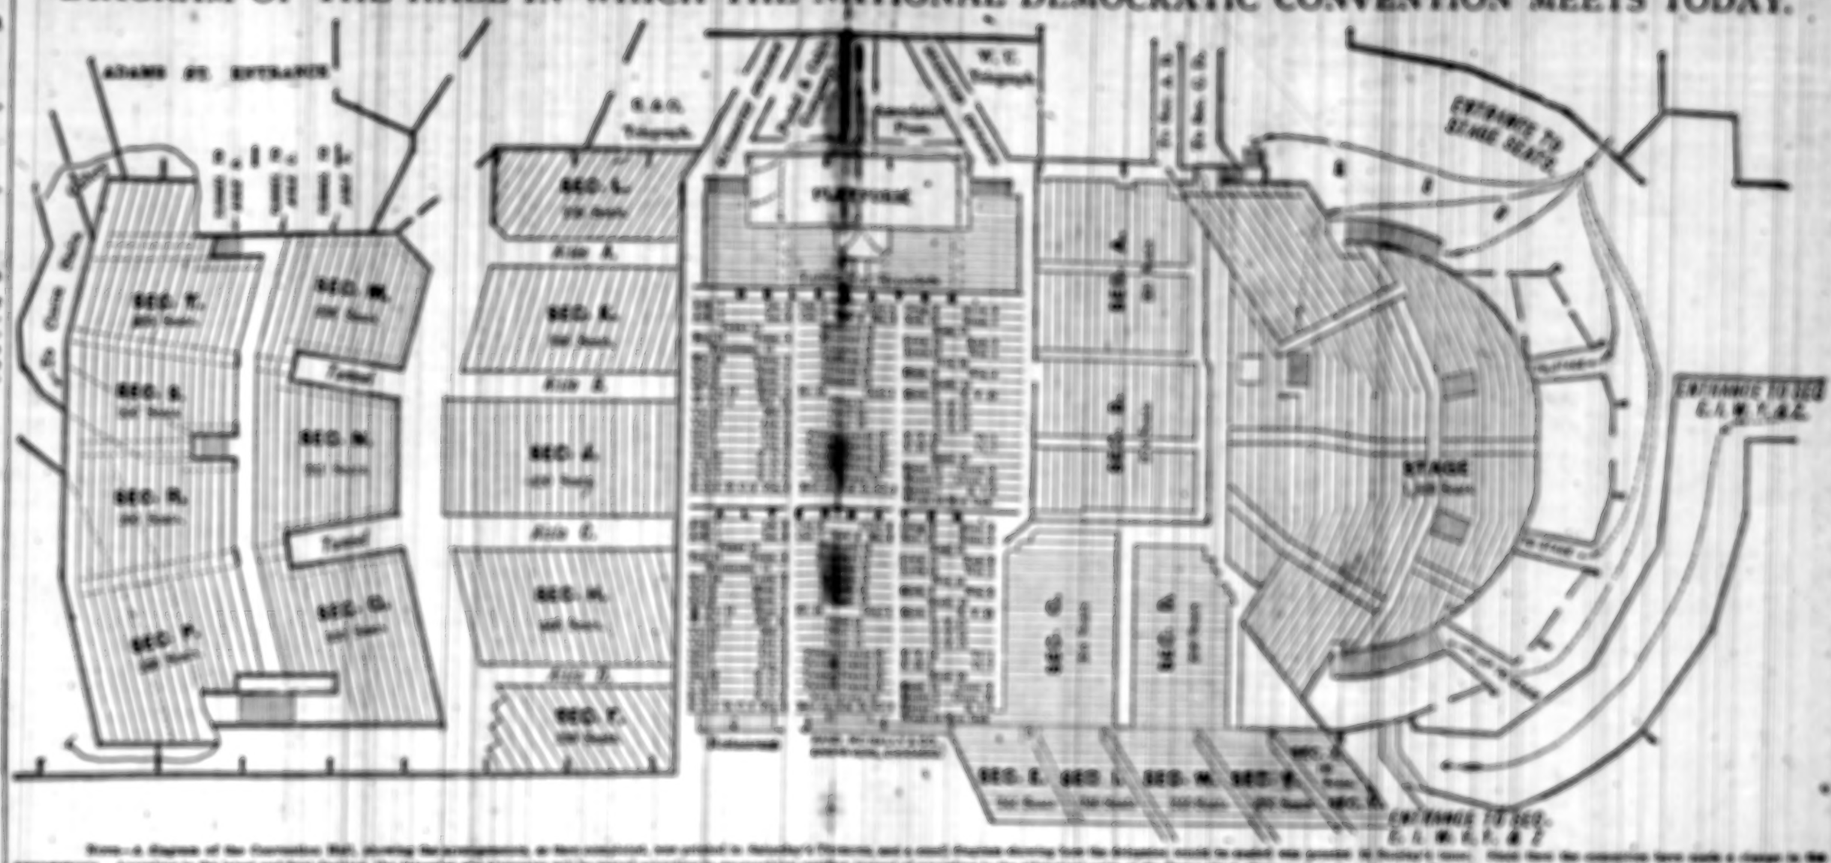
DIAGRAM OF THE HALL IN WHICH THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION MEETS TODAY.



Note.—A diagram of the Convention Hall, showing the arrangements, as then completed, was printed in Saturday's TRIBUNE, and a small diagram showing how the delegations would be seated was printed in Sunday's issue. Since then the committee have made a change in the arrangements. According to the latest and best designs, the delegates and alternates will be seated according to geographical position instead of according to the alphabetical order of the States which they represent. The diagram given this morning shows the exact position each delegation will occupy, and also shows the complete arrangement of the hall in detail. The Territorial delegates, it will be seen, are distributed in among the others instead of being in a square. Each location is a matter of little consequence, as they have no vote. It must be borne in mind, to understand the sun, that the platform is on the west or Jackson avenue side of the building.

THE CALL.

HOW SEATS ARE GIVEN.

Following is the call under which the convention meets at noon today:

The Democratic electors of the United States and all other citizens who desire to co-operate with them in securing the success of the principles they advocate are requested to send delegates to a National Convention to be held in the city of Chicago, Illinois, on Tuesday, the eighth day of July, 1884, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice-President of the United States.

The several Democratic electors in the United States will be entitled to the same number of delegates in the Convention that they have in the Electoral College under the apportionment of 1880, and each delegate will be entitled to one vote. The basis of representation in the Convention shall be one delegate at large from each State and Territory and the District of Columbia, and two delegates from each Congressional district in each State and Territory, which shall be entitled to a representation of one delegate for a fraction in excess of one-half of the full district vote cast for the Democratic candidate for Presidential elector at the last preceding election, and one additional delegate for each 4,000 votes cast for such candidate in each district for a fraction in excess of one-half of that number. Each State and Territory shall be entitled to a number of delegates at large equal to the number of Senators and Representatives in Congress to which it may be entitled by the apportionment of 1880, and the District of Columbia shall be entitled to two delegates at large. Vacancies occurring in the representation from any State or Territory may be filled by the authorities thereof.

THE RULES.

Another question which the committee have considered is whether a rule shall be adopted requiring a two-thirds vote of the Convention to nominate a candidate for President or Vice-President. It has been argued that the two-thirds rule would prevent the nomination of candidates who have been made the subject of bitter controversy, but nothing has been decided in regard to the matter

New York exchange was quoted as follows yesterday:

Chicago, 50c premium.

Boston, par to 5c discount.

New Orleans, $1.25 premium.

Some of the banks in this city had a long line of business yesterday, and as the whole force was in charge of accountants. The general opinion is not strong, but the conservative strength of many may. Business exchanges were fair, considering all the circumstances, but the movement of funds between local and the East is now small. There is a fair supply of money exchange. The general sales were fifty, the same there being one sale only, the balance, except sales fifty and fifty. Commercial paper was not in request. There was not much activity in exchange. The Chicago Clearing-House banks reported exchanges for the day as follows:
